

Volunteer Placements for the 2023-2024 Academic Year

On campus Placements

- 1. The RU International Radio- The RU International Radio (106.2FM) is the only international college radio station in Israel (broadcasting in English) and is operated by students of the RRIS International School at RU, who come from over 60 countries around the world. The radio aims to become a central meeting point for people in Israel and Jewish communities abroad, wishing to discuss and listen to issues related to Israel, Israeli culture, music, current events, innovation and more. The radio operates under the educational radio project, and therefore the radio station is free of advertising and commercial content.

Volunteer Tasks

- All our podcasts are produced, recorded and edited by students. The radio can be a very demanding program, but we teach our students everything they need to know in order to produce, edit and record. Students don't need to have a prior knowledge of podcasting or radio but if you do it is a bonus and of course it helps if you know what a podcast is and if you listen to podcasts.
- This year we have 10 positions for volunteers available for the following podcast

Planet A – Sustainability podcast

- 2 hosts or 1 host and 1 producer / editor

Talking Lauder Podcast – Government and diplomacy podcast

- 2 hosts or 1 host and 1 producer / editor

No Camels Podcast – Journalism / innovation podcast in collaboration with NoCamels.com

- 2 hosts or 1 host and 1 producer / editor

- 2 hosts or 1 host and 1 producer / editor

Thinking Out Loud – Psychology / Mental Health or Wellness podcast

- 2 hosts or 1 host and 1 producer / editor

*In order to get placement in the radio, students must meet with Yvonne Saba (manager of the international radio) and be chosen for one of the formats mentioned above as either a host, producer or editor. Once you have been placed in a show you will then learn the technical and set out to record a pilot. A minimum of two pilots must be recorded, reviewed and approved in order to continue.

Once the pilot is approved, students will meet with Yvonne to plan a recording schedule for 12 or more episodes. Students must record a minimum of 12 episodes of their podcast in order to receive their hours. By the end of the first semester students must finish recording 6 episodes in order to continue to the next semester. Students who fail to produce 6 episodes in the 1st semester will not be allowed to continue their hours at the radio.

*Registration to the radio must be by November 1st 2023. The radio will not receive any volunteers after this date.
