

Haneen Matar is a researcher at the Aaron Institute for Economic Policy, Interdisciplinary Center Herzliya (IDC). She has recently completed her M.Sc in behavioral sciences from the Technion. Additionally, she holds Bachelor's and Master's degrees from the Hebrew University in Finance and Marketing. Her MA thesis examined the effect of power and centrality in social networks on similarity and conflicts judgments.

Moreover, Haneen worked as a lecturer at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem in research methods, finance and marketing in the same time as a researcher and statistics consulting for JDC Israel in the labor market and Arab women employment research.