5. Information on French Visa and Temporary Stay Permit

4.1 French Visa

If you are a citizen of a Non-European Union country, and if you are in France for your studies for more than 3 months, you will require a French long-term visa to study in Paris. Since January 2010, all students should follow Campus France procedures to apply for a study visa: www.campusfrance.org. Campus

France will assist you step by step. Please note that the process may take a while, therefore your early action is encouraged. You will need to apply for the visa at the nearest French Embassy or French Consulate in your city to get your visa before arriving in France. If your country doesn't follow a campus France procedure; please contact the nearest French Consulate in your country to obtain information regarding your visa requirement well in advance before your departure date from home. The necessary documents required to apply for the Visa may differ from one country to another. However, your passport and the official invitation letter from the school are always among the required documents.

If you are a citizen of a European Union country, you normally do not need a visa to study in France for 6 months unless you hold a special status of citizenship or residency in your home country. When in doubt, please contact Campus France or the nearest French Embassy or the French Consulate in your city to obtain information on whether a visa is required for you. It is your responsibility to obtain this visa before your arrival in France.

Masters & visiting students only: Your acceptance letter required for the Visa will be sent as soon as you have paid your Registration deposit into the program. This letter provides proof that you are indeed registered in the program and it specifies the dates you will physically need to be in Paris.

In general terms the following documents are required in order to obtain a student's long stay visa for France:

- The student should apply for the visa no more than 3 months before the beginning of the program
- Photo - following the consulate specifications
- Evidence of sufficient financial means for the full study period - €650 per month
- Proof of accommodation for the first 3 months of the stay
- Proof of registration - The acceptance or enrollment letter from the French institution
- Valid passport

If the student is from one of the countries in the following list, they should go to the Campus France website of their country and complete all their requirements before going to the consulate.

Algeria	China	Guinea	Morocco	Korea
Argentina	Colombia	India	Mauritius	Taiwan
Benin	Comoros	Indonesia	Mexico	Tunisia
Brazil	Congo(Brazza	Japan	Peru	Turkey
Burkina Faso	ville)	Lebanon	Senegal	USA
Cameroon	Cote d'Ivoire	Madagascar	Russia	Vietnam
Chile	Gabon	Mali	South

In this case the visa process will follow this sequence:

- 1 - Campus France application process (www.campusfrance.org)
- 2 - Visa process through French consulate
- 3 - Arrival in France
- 4 - OFII procedures

It's important to verify with the French consulate of each country the specific documents that are necessary!

4.2 Different types of VISA

Short-term stay in France – for Non-European Union citizens

If you study in EBS Paris for less than 3 months (ie. summer program), depending on your country of citizenship, you may or may not need a visa. Please contact the nearest French Consulate in your country to obtain information regarding your visa requirement well in advance before your departure date from home.

Short-Term visa:

If your visa says “dispense temporaire de carte de séjour” you don’t need to do anything (with the Préfecture or the OFII office) when you are in France. You won’t be able to work or apply for the housing subsidy, and when your visa expires you need to go home; with this indication you can’t get a residence permit. If you want to extend your stay you need to go back to your home country and ask for a new visa.

Long-Term visa:

This type of visa should indicate that a temporary residence permit should be solicited upon arrival in France or it should indicate “carte de séjour à solliciter dès l’arrivée”.

To apply for the temporary residence permit, upon arrival in France you will need the following documents:

- ETR, ETUD, CERFA and ANAEM forms (given by the French consulate or embassy)
- your housing contract
- a bank statement
- an attendance certificate (given by EBS)
- your birth certificate translated in French by a person certified by the French government
- copy of your passport
- copy of your visa
- 3 ID pictures

VLS-TS (long stay):

The French Consulate provides the visa VLS-TS (long stay) which indicate “Carte de séjour” (residence permit). They will provide the OFII Form.

When you arrive in France, your passport will be stamped at the airport (date of entry in France). As soon as you arrive in France you need to apply through the OFII office. It is mandatory within the three months after your arrival in France to do this procedure. When the VLS-TS visa is issued, the consulate will give the applicant an official form (with instructions) that the applicant must present to the French office of immigration and integration (OFII). With this visa you are able to apply for the housing subsidy and work for a maximum of 20 hours a week (960 hours per year). In case you want to stay longer in France, it will be possible but only if you apply for the “carte de séjour” at least two months before the expired date of your first visa. VISA is required in France for Non-European Union citizens who study in Europe with Schengen visa or residence permit.

TO DO UPON ARRIVAL IN FRANCE FOR LONG TERM OR VLS TS VISA

Holders of the VLS-TS visa no longer have to obtain a residency permit from the prefecture having jurisdiction over their place of residence in France, but they do have to report to the OFII and complete several administrative formalities. Specifically, a VLS-TS holder must, upon arriving in France and within three months of your arrival on the French territory, validate to the OFII by registered on their website :

Please go on the following website:

<https://administration-etrangers-en-france.interieur.gouv.fr/particuliers/#/>

Provide the information from:

- The official form received from the consulate that issued the visa.
- A copy of passport pages showing the visa holders identity and the stamp indicating entry into France (or into the Schengen area).
- The information on your visa

Upon completing the webpage, you will receive a “confirmation of your long-stay visa equivalent to a residence permit registering validation”.

Confirmation de la validation de l'enregistrement de votre

Along with this confirmation is provided, for people subject to these procedures, an “information relating to the medical check-up”.

Depending on the address you indicated when validating your VLS-TS, the relevant OFII's Territorial Directorate will send you a summons for your medical check-up.

In all cases, a tax of €90 must be paid by purchasing a tax stamp marked "OMI" or "ANAEM."

The stamp may be purchased:

- online at www.timbresofii.fr
- in certain shops that sell tobacco products (Tabacs)
- at tax offices.

5 Medical Health Insurance

5.1 For European Students

All European Union citizens should have the European health coverage and should provide one copy with the application form.

5.2 For Non-European Students

All Non-European students staying more than 3 months are required to purchase a private Health Insurance. The cost of a doctor's visit can be expensive (between 23€ to 80€). In France, you will have to pay for a doctor's visit at the time of your visit, and if you have health insurance, you are able to claim it back after the visit by submitting the receipts. The amount and the eligibility of the claim depend on the type of insurance you have.

6 Accommodation in Paris

Housing in Paris can be quite difficult to find and can also be expensive. If you want to rent a flat in France, you will need a guarantor (someone paying taxes in France or your parents giving proof of their salary to secure payment of your rent). If you have not a guarantor, you will be required to pay all your rent in advance!

When making reservations, you will be required to pay:

- Administration fee (nonrefundable) usually one extra month of your rent
- Deposit (one month of rent refunded within two months after your departure date if there is no damage in your flat)
- First month of rent

EBS Paris will not be able to find you an apartment in Paris. However, we will be happy to advise you. The accommodation offered shall be regarded merely as indicative, EBS Paris does not take responsibility for accommodation offers listed in this guide.

Be aware that there are numerous spams on Internet. Do not send any money before being sure the accommodation does exist!

6.2 Homestay

Homestay is certainly the best housing option for international students who wish to learn about French culture, the daily life in Paris or practice your French in a non-structured environment, aside from your French language lessons. Homestay is an option with a secure and safe environment in a happy and comfortable home in central Paris and residential areas, at walking distance from public transportation such as the metro and bus. This is a choice of accommodation with suitable options with your daily schedule, duration of stay and budget.

France Accommodation

By working with hundreds of Paris hosts, France Accommodation may be able to provide a beneficial and higher quality homestay experience for each participant. FAC ensures carefully screened qualified and culturally aware hosts to match your requirements as closely as possible with a suitable host, type of family, area, close to your school.

All the homestays should include:

- A private bedroom, properly furnished, including a working table and a closet.
- A bathroom to be shared with the other residents. In some cases a private bathroom is facilitated.
- Linen and towels are changed weekly and laundry facilities are available once a week as a minimum
- Access to utilities (TV, Internet, Wifi)

You will be given a key on arrival. In case of loss or theft, it will be your responsibility to have it replaced and the lock repaired or even changed.

Atome

Another trustful link between students and families, ATOME will take complete charge of setting up your accommodation with a host family in Paris. It will provide service and select your host families (they are connected to more than 200 families in Paris) according to rigorous standards.

They visit and select your host families based on the following criteria:

- Their motivation for welcoming a “foreigner” into their home.
- Their willingness to participate in an exchange with a culture that is not their own.
- A dedicated room for the student and the condition of the apartment.
- Their ability to invest themselves in such an exchange.
- Their determination to project a positive image of France.

They are fully aware that financial considerations are important for these families but in no case should be the primary motivation for seeking a home stay.

7 Information on Housing Subsidy – Government Aid (CAF)

Government housing subsidy is called “aide au logement”, and it is under the category of “Caisse d'Allocations Familiales” or simply CAF.

CAF Application

Who is eligible for the Housing Subsidy?

The French government allows International students or other EU students who are studying in France and have a Temporary Stay permit to get housing subsidy.

The requirements are:

- Type of housing: individual studio or apartment with your name on official housing contract
- Having a French bank account (to be able to receive the bank transfer)
- Having a French health insurance or European Health insurance card for EU citizens
- Having applied for the OFII or for Temporary Residence permit (“carte de séjour”) if applicable

For example, a typical 18 m² single person studio at monthly rent of 700€ can benefit about 200€ maximum per month of subsidy. Please note that subsidies only start the month following the date of application (not when you move in). Therefore, we do advise you to apply as soon as you arrive in your apartment.

- Copy of your European Health Insurance Card
- Your French Bank Account Information, called R.I.B (Relevé d'Identité Bancaire)

For Non-European Students:

- Copy of your ID or Passport
- Copy of the visa
- Copy of the OFII form or the OFII stamp (if applicable)

- Copy of your Certificate of enrolment (given by the International Office)
- Copy of your French social security number when you receive it.
- Your French Bank Account Information, called R.I.B (Relevé d'Identité Bancaire)

PLEASE NOTE: Subsidy is not guaranteed!

10 Culture in Paris

Paris is a major cultural center and you will most likely find countless opportunities to go out and explore what the city has to offer. The City of Paris's official wEBSite is a good starting point to find information about anything you might be interested in: museums, libraries, sports facilities, markets, outdoors activities, etc. You will also find a calendar of free activities (exhibitions, screenings, etc.). www.paris.fr.

Museums / Art Galleries

You can find detailed information about the many Parisian museums and monuments on the following wEBSite: <http://www.parisinfo.com/visiter-a-paris>. Some of the most famous and "must-see" museums include le Louvre, le Musée d'Orsay, le Musée National d'Art Moderne (Centre Pompidou - Beaubourg), le Grand Palais, le Palais de Tokyo (Musée d'Art Moderne de la Ville de Paris)... Most national museums are closed on Tuesdays. EU citizens under 26 get free access to permanent collections in national museums (there usually is a fee for temporary exhibitions). Other museums usually offer a discount fare for students (student ID is required).

Besides those major museums, Paris also offers the opportunity to visit many smaller museums and art galleries such as the Fondation Cartier pour l'Art Contemporain, Musée Rodin, Maison Européenne de la Photographie, Fondation Henri Cartier-Bresson, etc. There are many small art galleries in several neighborhoods, but particularly around the Marais district (3ème, 4ème arrondissements). The "Arts & Culture" section of Time Out Paris can be a good starting point to find information about current exhibitions. <http://www.timeout.com/paris/en/arts-culture>

Film / Theater

Paris has the highest density of movie theaters in the world (number of theaters per inhabitant), which will give you the opportunity to see almost any kind of movies you might be interested in, from independent foreign films to huge blockbusters. Some theaters, especially in the Latin Quarter, specialize in old classics or cult films. You will always be able to watch recent releases either in their original version with French subtitles or dubbed in French. General admission can be a little expensive (around 10 €) but most movie theaters offer student discounts (admission around 6 or 7 €). It is also often possible to buy a multiple-entry pass at a discount price.

Most chain multiplexes (Gaumont, UGC) focus on bigger releases, MK2 is a smaller chain that dedicates more screens to independent films and there are also many independent theaters that are well worth a visit for their program but sometimes also for their building, history and atmosphere (la Pagode, le Louxor, le Cinéma des Cinéastes, le Studio 28...) There are 2 weekly guides that can help you find out what movies are playing in any theater: l'Officiel des Spectacles and le Pariscope. Those guides will also include information about current plays and exhibitions. Check <http://www.offi.fr/cinema>. For film buffs, the Cinémathèque Française is definitely a "must see" (screenings, festivals, museum, exhibitions, library, etc) <http://www.cinematheque.fr/>. During the summer, the City of Paris organizes free outdoors screenings of famous films.

Music

Paris also offers many interesting options for live music enthusiasts ranging from large concert halls and outdoors festivals to small independent venues and cafés. Some of the most famous larger venues include Bercy (POPB), le Zénith or l'Olympia. Smaller venues include la Cigale, le Point Ephémère, le Nouveau Casino, la Maroquinerie and many more. All those venues offer an eclectic program but tend to focus on "indie" and electronic music. Jazz enthusiasts will find several jazz clubs around the city and particularly in the Latin

Quarter district and around the 1er arrondissement. Those venues all have websites detailing their program. You can also find a detailed schedule of most concerts in a small free booklet called LYLO (Les Yeux Les Oreilles, <http://www.lylo.fr/>) available in many bars and cafés.

As far as record stores are concerned, you will also be able to enjoy many options ranging from chain stores like FNAC and Gibert – both also large bookstores (<http://www.fnac.com/> and <http://www.gibertjoseph.com/>) – to independent well-stocked record stores (Born Bad, Pop Culture, Music Fear Satan, Souffle Continu, Ground Zero, Silence de la Rue...). More details are available here: <http://www.timeout.fr/paris/shopping/vinyl-disquaires>.

Please do not hesitate to ask for more details as I know many of those places quite well. I'd be happy to help if I can.

11 Transportation in Paris

Metro

The Metro system in Paris is quite extensive and is the best way to get around. The Metro consists of 14 lines and covers Paris central region and extends to some suburbs. Upon arrival, you should get a monthly pass called « Navigo » for the weeks or months you will be in Paris. It is more effective to get a monthly pass instead of buying a ticket each time you take the Metro. Metro system stays within the first 2 zones. Since September 1st 2015 the price for a monthly pass is the same for all zones (75,20 €). EBS Paris campus is located at the “Convention” station on Line 12 or “Boucicaut” station on Line 8. All Metro and RER lines are color coded and to download a Metro Map, please visit the following WebSite: www.ratp.fr/en (English version available).

RER

The RER are the fast suburban trains which also cross Paris. You will have to purchase a ticket which has a different cost depending on where you are going and the zone. RER is a larger fast train compared to the Metro and goes through the city and its suburbs. RER lines are organized by alphabet from A to E. You will have to buy a special RER ticket if you chose to travel with this transportation system.

Bus

Buses are also convenient to take for short distances however for longer distances, more than 6 city blocks, it is better to take the Metro or the RER. Please also find a bus map on the WebSite above.

11.1 Fare and tickets

Tickets T+

- One ticket (for zone 1 and 2): 2€
- Book of 10 tickets (for zone 1 and 2): 16.90€
- One ticket in a bus: 2€ (pay with your smartphone by sms)

Tickets origin-destination

The origin-destination ticket allows you to travel between two stations in the region “Île-de-France” on the RER lines. It is used in one way or another, for example: Paris – la Défense and la Défense – Paris. The one way ticket from or to Paris from or to la Défense is 2.75€. Tickets to or from Paris can use correspondence metro and RER in Paris. For more information visit: <https://www.iledefrance-mobilites.fr/titres-et-tarifs/detail/billet-origine-destination>

Weekly navigo

Navigo Pass

The other option is to get a Navigo Pass. The card is available immediately at the counter in metro stations and in authorized shops without having to complete an application, it costs 7,60€. It is open to everyone (no obligation to reside or work in Ile de France). It goes along with a name card with photo (25x30mm format). You can then “load” passes onto your card. A weekly pass (that runs from Monday to Sunday) for zones 1 to 5 costs 22,80 euros. A monthly pass for zones 1 to 5 costs 75,20 euros. With either of these passes, you will be able to make unlimited trips using the Metro, buses, RER, trains within zones 1 to 5 (covering a very large area including the city of Paris and its suburbs). We recommend you purchase a monthly pass as it usually is the best deal for students. To get more information about the monthly transportation passes, please visit the following website: www.ratp.fr/en (English version available)

Please be advised that most Metro stations do not have elevators or escalators. If you have heavy luggage to carry, you may have to carry them up or down the stairs.

Imagin’R Card

This is a transportation card valid for one year (for unlimited trips) and designed for students under 26. This card offers discounts up to 50% compared to the Carte Navigo but students can only enroll in this transportation plan if they are registered for at least one full academic year (2 semesters). For prices and more information, you can check the following webpage:

www.iledefrance-mobilites.fr/en

11.2 Velib

Velib is a large-scale bicycle sharing program. In order to use the system, users need to take out a subscription, which allows the subscriber an unlimited number of rentals. Subscriptions can be purchased at €1.70 per day, €8/week, €29/year (Vélib' Classique), or €39/year (Vélib' Passion). With a subscription, bike rental is free for the first half hour of every individual trip; an unlimited number of such free trips can be made per day. A trip that lasts longer than 30 minutes incurs a charge of €1 to €4 for each subsequent 30-minute period. The increasing price scale is intended to keep the bikes in circulation. A Vélib' Passion subscription allows the user to have the first 45 minutes free on each trip, its price is reduced to €29 for users aged under 27, and to €19 for students receiving a scholarship. A credit card or debit card with a PIN is required to sign up for the program and to rent the bikes. The credit/debit card is charged a €150 deposit, to protect against bikes not being returned. The credit card is required to contain an EMV chip in order to get a subscription at a station;^[18] short-term subscription can also be purchased online. 1-day and 1-week subscribers are given a subscription number to be used for future rentals during their subscription period, while 1-year subscribers are sent an RFID card. All types of sign-up can also be attached to a Navigo pass. The RFID card and Navigo pass allow direct use of the card readers at Vélib stations.

11.3 Taxi

French taxis are licensed by the local prefecture, which imposes strict rules on roadworthiness, passenger capacity (a maximum of 3) and working hours. Private minicabs do not really exist and all cabs operate in the same manner and to the same costs in each region. They do tend to charge more depending on the hour of the day (ie. early morning, and late at night). Taxis in Paris can be hailed in the streets, at the numerous taxi stations found in every district or booked by phone.

The main taxi company in Paris: G7 (G sept) – Tel: 01 47 39 47 39 WeCab is a taxi service offering shared or private taxi's for journeys to or from the airports Roissy Charles de Gaulle and Orly. 12 Miscellaneous

Currency

To find out the latest currency exchange rates, you should contact your local financial institution. The exchange rate varies from store to store. Euro coins are available in denominations of 1 cent, 5 cents, 10 cents, 25 cents, 50 cents, 1€, 2€. Euro notes (paper bills) are available in denominations of 5€, 10€, 20€, 50€, 100€ and so on. The 50€ and 100€ bills may not be widely accepted and it is better to have smaller bills on hand.

Banks for money withdrawals (ATMs or Cash points)

There are many ATMs for money withdrawals all around Paris however the exchange rate varies depending on the bank. Please note that all around Europe, most ATMs take 4 digit codes only. Please ensure that your bank card has a confidential code of 4 digits before leaving your country. They do not accept letter codes.

Traveler's Checks

Traveler's checks (in Euros) can also be used in the largest stores and restaurants however you must present official picture identification (passport or citizenship card) at the time of its use. You will not be able to use your regular bank checks. Traveler's checks must be in Euros and cannot be in any other currencies. You must go to large banks to cash traveler's checks and must show your ID (Passport) when cashing them.

Master Cards/ VISA/ American Express

The most widely used credit cards are Master Cards and Visa cards. The American Express cards are less used in Europe. Please note that some smaller restaurants may not be equipped to process North American Credit cards due to a different system used in France. Therefore, it is always a good idea to have some cash or traveler's checks on hand.

The French Electrical System – voltage difference

The French electrical system, like most European countries is 220 volts at 50 cycles. Plugs take a standardized two or three round-pin format. Hair dryers, battery chargers, electric shavers and all other electric devices will require an adapter and a voltage converter. Most can be adapted with relative ease, but ask for advice and make sure you purchase an adapter and converter before leaving your home country especially for expensive equipment. The school does not have any adapters or voltage converters.

Cell phone connection

If you would like to have a cell phone connection while you are in Paris, you have several options. You can get an international connection from your home country or buy a “pay as you go” card in France. Make sure your phone accepts international Sim cards.

Payphones in Paris

Most payphones inside Paris do not accept coins. You will have to buy a phone card specially made to use at payphones. You are able to buy these cards at any “Tabac” stores (smoke shops), any newsstands, or any large departmental stores. They are called ‘carte téléphonique pour les cabines’. You can also use directly your debit card.

Sunday Store closures

Most regular clothing, pharmacies and grocery stores are closed on Sundays in France. Most restaurants and bakeries are open on Sundays but are closed on Monday. Most banks are closed on Monday as well.

14. Security

Paris is statistically one of the safest major metropolitan areas in Europe. Violent crime rates are fairly low here. Following these basic Paris safety tips can go a long way in ensuring you avoid danger during your stay in Paris. Paris community police has about a hundred public reception points scattered all over the capital. Among them, the 20 district (arrondissement) central police stations are open 24/7, in order to attend to victims and provide help and assistance.

Foreign visitors can speak to bilingual police officers. The latter, either at the reception desk in police stations or patrolling the streets, throughout the summer, wear badges indicating, by means of a flag, the language(s) they can speak. They can answer simple questions such as basic information (geographic direction or tourist sites) as well as more sensitive questions, regarding theft or assault, and may thus bring valuable assistance to tourists who do not command the French language. When recording a complaint, the (Système d'Accueil des Victimes Etrangères - Reception System for Foreign Victims) software, available in twenty languages, now allows any police civil servant to record the complaint from a foreign tourist and provide him/her with a receipt in its original language, thus simplifying the visitor's forthcoming procedures at the embassy or in his/her own country.

To avoid becoming a victim, follow these tips

Be careful in the street:

- Preferably use a small bag or a waist-bag / fanny-pack rather than a backpack;
- Take little cash with you;
- Do not put your wallet in your back pockets;
- If an assailant tries to snatch your bag, do not resist, or you may be injured;
- Beware of individuals who may divert your attention in order to steal your personal belongings.
- Some swindlers may impersonate police officers and ask for your identification and money. First of all, bear in mind that a real police officer will never ask for money. Ask for their white plastic three-color card indicating "Police" in the center, diagonally crossed in blue, white and red and bearing markings on both sides.

Be careful in public transport:

- Do not leave your luggage unattended;
- Do not let any individual go through the turnstile / gate directly behind you;
- Never buy tickets from scalpers who will charge you extra (up to ten times their value). Use ticket counters or ticket issuing machines in (train / bus / subway) stations.

Never accept rides from someone who may offer their transport services in airports or in the street: this could be a "bogus/illegal" taxi, a crime punished by the French Labor Code.

In public places:

- Do not handle money in public and never change currencies in the street, use bureau de change / currency exchange offices instead;
- Use small denominations, bank cards or checks (of course if they can be cleared in France) for any purchases;
- Do not leave your methods of payment in cloakrooms or in your coat on a chair (at restaurant or in cafés for instance), a pickpocket could sit behind you and steal your belongings;
- Never lay your bag at your feet and do not leave your mobile phone or your wallet on the table in a café or a restaurant;
- Do not put your phone in an outside pocket of your bag or garments;
- Do not lend it to a stranger;
- In restaurants and bars, do not hesitate to ask for the menu and pricelist, so as to avoid any unpleasant surprise

Loss or theft of your identification papers:

- Remember to photocopy all your identification papers and keep the copies in your hotel or your temporary place of residence;
- In case of loss, contact the consulate and in case of theft, also declare it to the police.

What to do if you become the victim of a theft or an assault?

- Should you become a victim of an assault, try to make the attacker go away by making as much noise as possible (shouting / screaming);
- Take refuge in the nearest shop and get someone to call the police;
- Give a description of your attacker: - sex, supposed age, hair color and cut, height and weight, distinctive features (beard, scars, tattoos, glasses, etc.).
- Indicate how and the direction in which they fled. In the case of a vehicle, specify the color, brand and, if possible, the license plate number (even partially).

Police officers will take you to the nearest police station so as to record your complaint. If you do not speak French, the S.A.V.E. (Système d'Accueil des Victimes Etrangères - Reception System for Foreign Victims) available in twenty languages allows officers to record your complaint and provide you with a receipt in your language. In the case of physical assault, the officer shall also provide you with a written document allowing you to get examined at the medical-legal emergency unit (1, place du Parvis Notre-Dame, 75004 Paris - M° Cité, RER St-Michel -Notre-Dame - 01 42 34 82 85/29 -24/7) which shall issue an official certificate to be added to your file. An investigation will then be opened to look for the assailant(s).
